Contact: Melissa Newell

(504) 520-5425 | mnewell@XULA.edu

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Xavier University of Louisiana College of Pharmacy Hosts 17th Those attending the conference can look forward to interactive workshops, lectures, discussions, networking Attendees will have access to key thought leaders in health disparities and health equity while participating in and interacting with sessions, presentations, research exchanges, and particular interest areas that will focus on solutions to achieve health equity. Participants will include students, pharmacists, physicians, nurses, physician assistants, health policymakers, health educators, researchers, and public health leaders whose work incorporates interdisciplinary approaches to health disparities and health justice.

Our goal

With conferences like this, we can discuss health disparities, what factors contribute to them, and what

Visit the 17th Health Disparities Conference here for more information.

###

solutions we can employ to fix them. Only then can we work toward eliminating these health disparities and move

About Xavier University of Louisiana

toward achieving health equity

On the cusp of celebrating its first 100 years of service, Xavier University of Louisiana remains America's only historically Black and Catholic University and is ranked among the top HBCUs (historically Black colleges and universities) in the nation. Recognized as a national leader in STEM and health sciences, Xavier has historically produced more African American students w(c)1000040 g0 G)yaK0.00000